

Learning Resources for Students

While your Tutorship course books and your tutors no doubt form the basis of your learning experience, it's important to make the most of your learning opportunities by familiarising yourself with the wide range of resources that are available.

These resources have been collected with ICS students specifically in mind, and they are a great place to start. It's important to remember however, that learning is a dynamic experience, and as a shipping professional, you will know doubt have a wealth of resources around you at the office, and through working colleagues.

Click on the links on the right to discover a wealth of exam and study support.